Despatches to the Evening Times.

The Hot Weather in New York—Twenty-Seven Fatal Cases of Sun-Stroke—Great Conflagration in the Pennsylvania Oil Region—20,000 Barrels of Oil Burned—The War in Europe—Italian Army Fall Back in Good Order—Revolution in Cuba—The Native Population in Revolt—2000 Chilian Troops Land from Steamers—1000 Negroes Join the Rebels.

NEW YORK, July 9.

The thermometer again reached 98 yesterday; 333 cases of sun stroke are reported, part in Saturday and additional to those before mentioned—27 resulting in death.

Copious rains fell last night.

Nearly all the bar rooms were open yesterday. Superintendent Kennedy having issued orders to make no more arrests for violation of the excise law—the constitutionality of which will be determined by the Court of Appeals.

There were two deaths from cholera yesterday.

A collection was made in Beecher's church yesterday for the Portland sufferers.

George Peabody arrived in Montreal Saturday and was warmly welcomed, but waived public reception. He will remain in Canada about ten days, visiting various points of interest.

A Porto Rico letter says the slave population is rapidly diminishing by manumission.

LANESVILLE, Pa., July 9.

There was a great fire on the Pennehoff Run last night.

During a thunder storm the lightning struck a gas pipe in the Western Union Telegraph well. They communicated to the tank which exploded, and the oil ran down the run, causing the flames to communicate with several other tanks, which in turn, exploded, and caused one of the heaviest conflagrations in the oil regions ever experienced.

Between eighteen and twenty large producing wells were burned up, including two or three large flowing wells, among which were the Sheridan and Western Union Telegraph wells, both of them large flowing wells. The Sheridan had eight or nine tanks filled with oil, all of which were destroyed, as far as we can learn. Some 20,000 barrels of oil were destroyed; some estimate the number at a much higher figure. The oil was a foot deep as it ran down the run to Oil Creek. There were also between twenty or thirty derricks destroyed, the wells of which were in various stages of completion. The loss cannot be estimated at present, but is very heavy.

NEW ORLEANS, July 8.

The Louisiana State Convention of 1964 has been called to meet on the 30th inst.—Judge Howell will undoubtedly be indicted by the Grand Jury for issuing the call.

The Democrats and Conservatives have held a caucus and agreed to call a State Convention, to appoint delegates to the National Convention at Philadelphia.

NEW YORK, July 9.

The Morning Star, from New Orleans, not the Evening Star, has arrived.

The steamer New York brings Panama dates of the 1st and $1,430,000 in gold.

Chili, Peru, Bolivia and Ecuador, had formed a league to free Cuba from Spain, and applications had been made to Venezuela and Columbia to join at once. The three first named are to furnish the money and the other the men, while hopes of help from the United States are entertained by emigration of Southerners through Florida.

Dakota advices announce the installation of President Mosquera. He disapproved the act of Congress making certain annuities to nuns in consideration of the confiscation of their property. The Senate insisted on carrying out its measure, and the result was that an infuriated mob paraded the streets and entered the Senate Chamber, and by threats compelled Congress to sanction the veto of the President. This is thought to be the first step towards Mosquera's declaring himself permanent dictator.

NEW YORK, July 9.

The London Times of the 27th says:

The Italian army under the King and General Marmora had fallen back in good order across the Mincio and taken a position on Lombard ground.

Cialdini had not crossed the Po up to the latest accounts, and the intelligence of the disaster at Custozza will almost certainly induce him to abandon his projected advance into Venetia on the Alps, while the Austrians have secured possession of the Stelvio pass and come down on Bormio in the Valtellina.

Garibaldians have pushed forward to the edge of Caffaro and Ladrone on that main pass where two roads branch off to Trent and Riva on Lago di Grada. At Lardro they have driven the Austrians from their positions, but not without bloodshed.—Alpine warfare can however, only be secondary to the movements of the main armies on the plain and these must be for some time paralyzed by the blows with which the inconsiderate haste of the Italians have been visited by the reluctance of Austria to act otherwise than on the defensive. If however, was a chance for diplomacy to succeed with good effects between the ranks of combatants it will be afforded now by this terrible pause in military operations. The idea of the eventual, however remote, and conditional cession of Venetia has been entertained by Francis Joseph. Three days have nearly elapsed since the declaration of war, and Austria has already won her victories and by merely spending negotiations for the cession of Venetia, Austria would detach Italy from the Prussian alliance, and be enabled to concentrate more than the whole of her best troops with an immense amount of material to the North to contend with an immense amount of material to the North to contend with an immense amount of material achieved by the Prussians in Northern Germany during the last few days would be more than counter-balanced by the sudden enormous accession of strength. Her adversary, and indeed Prussia, would at once find herself in the presence of such fearful odds that it may be questioned whether she would any longer feel equal to the contest. The settlement of the difference between two belligerents would of necessity bring the third to terms.

A Paris letter of the 26th to the London Times says—

Prince Napoleon and the Italian Minister to Paris had together a long audience with the Emperor yesterday.

The Italians are persuaded that if ultimately defeated the Empire will have no choice but to come to their succor.

Lombardy, says La Presse, is Italian territory.

Its independence is guaranteed by treaties of which we are the sureties before Europe, and no victory of the Austrians shall ever again bring it under German dominion.

A Florence letter puts Garibaldi's force in Tyrol at 18,000, besides the National Guard of the district of Como. He will not, however, himself, remain in that part of the country. The larger half of the volunteers the whole number of whom is 38,000 or 40,000 men, and whose equipment and arming are being rapidly proceeded with, is at Bari and Barletta, on the Adriatic side, and thither Garibaldi will shortly repair, and, in conjunction with the regular troops, take ship to effect a landing on the Austrian coast.

BALTIMORE, July 9.

The Sun publishes the following account of a rumored revolt in Cuba, which they received specially from Captain Rollins of the steamship Cuba.

About the 29th ult. information was sent by the military and civil authorities of Porto Principe to the Captain General at Havana, that in that place, as well as the neighborhood, a spirit of revolt had been observed for some time past. Treasonable language was used openly in the public places. The authorities, however, paid no heed to the warning until news came that a portion of the population had broken out in open revolt and declared for the independence of Cuba and separation from the Spanish Government.

On the 1st inst. a military force, consisting of five companies stationed at Port Principe was sent against the insurgents to bring them to order. A fight ensued, in which a colonel was killed, and two or three officers mortally wounded.

Three companies of the Spanish soldiers went over to the insurgents. The latter, thus reinforced, and mustering now 7000 men, proceeded to the mountain region.

The moment this news reached Havana, three steamers were dispatched with troops to the place of revolt but before they were fairly on their way—which was on the 3d—the alarming intelligence arrived that four steamers, with 2000 troops on board, had made their appearance near Nuevitas, bearing the Chilian flag, and effected a landing. All the discontented thereupon proceeded to the places of rendezvous, and it was believed the revolt had ramifications throughout the whole island.

Among those who left Port Principe were about 1000 negroes, who, it is asserted, were armed by their owners to join the insurgents.

The whole affair was looked upon as a general revolution of the natives to free themselves from Spanish rule.

HARTFORD, July 9.

During the thunder storm last evening the lightning struck Charles Whitney's house in Forrestville, Bristol, instantly killing Mr Whitney and his son and probably Mrs. Whitney also. She still lives, but it is doubtful if she recovers. She and her son sat on the sofa and their son in a chair near by.

PORTLAND, July 9.

The Merchants Bank vault is opened and its contents found entirely uninjured. This is the last vault opened and all are safe.

The self-registering thermometers in Lowell & Senter's vaults showed only 110° at the highest point in the lower vault and 130° in the upper. This vault was built 50 years ago.

The safes in the city of nearly all descriptions proved worthless in most cases when unprotected, and the few which didn't fail were probably favored by circumstances.—As a reslut I judge that only vaults, built from the ground are entirely reliable.

The Masonic bodies are to meet in convention on Wednesday afternoon, to provide for the needy and to arrange for a new hall. They saved nothing but the jewels, records and charters.

MR. STANTON'S PREDICTION. A Washington correspondent of the Chambersburg (Pa.) Repository is responsible for the following statement respecting Secretary Stanton:—

Prominent radicals are in receipt of most touching appeals from loyalists of the South, whose dwellings are burned, and who are hunted like partridges by the triumphant rebels. What is generally wanted is the means of getting away, as the hope of protection is abandoned. These appeals would be more frequent but for the fear of discovery. The suffering loyal people, white and black, are held in mortal fear, like children who are cruelly beaten by nurses and threatened with worse if they complain. Witness the petition from the loyal men of Virginia, which was lately presented to the Senate by Mr. Trumbull, and afterwards withdrawn for fear of consequences to the petitioners. A Congressman who received one of these appeals from a loyalist in South Carolina, whose dwelling had been burned down, and he and his family driven to the woods, where they are now skulking, went to Secretary Stanton to ask transportation for these these outraged people to some place of safety. Mr. Stanton read the letter carefully, and then remarked,—

"I regret that there is no law authorizing me to interfere. Such appeals are coming up from all parts of the South. I have no authority to help these people."

"And is it so, Mr. Secretary," inquired an applicant, "that after spending three thousand millions of money and two hundred thousand lives, the men we have been fighting are triumphant, our friends left to their mercy, and the Government powerless to protect them?"

"It is even so!" was the emphatic response of Edwin M. Stanton.

"Then, Mr. Stanton, to what are we coming?"

"We are coming to another war!" said the Secretary of War, "and that soon; and it is my consolation, in view of the case, that the next war will not end in a mock trial of traitors. When our men go down there again they will try and execute traitors with the bayonet."

A CASE UNDER THE CIVIL RIGHTS BILL. Judge Bowie has given a written opinion in a case coming under the operation of the civil rights bill. A Dr. Somers beat a negro. The negro's wife had Somers arrested and brought before a magistrate. Somers' counsel contended that the laws of Maryland would not allow a negro to testify against a white man. The magistrate decided that said laws were null and void under the recent civil rights bill, and required Somers to give bail to appear before the Circuit Court. Somers refused to do this and he was committed to prison.—His counsel then applied to Chief Justice Bowie for a writ of habeas corpus, which Judge Bowie refused to grant, reaffirming the decision of the magistrate remanding the prisoner to custody.

THE PORTLAND FIRE. We find the following items in the Press of Saturday, which did not come to hand till yesterday:

A MARTIAL CITY. Capt. Inman, U. S. A., telegraphed to have 1600 tents forwarded for the use of those who had no shelter. The tents promptly came, and were placed under the orders of Gen. Geo. F. Shepley. It is worth a visit to Munjoy to see how handsomely he has had them arranged.—There are rows of them, with intersecting streets, and large hospital tents in the rear for the sick. He has arranged everything in the best manner, and the occupants are comfortable. Gen. S. has also organized a police force to preserve order in this tented part of the city.

ANOTHER ALARM. At midnight on Thursday, the flames burst out again in the City Government building, and it was necessary to sound the alarm bell to bring the wearied firemen back to work. But they came, promptly, and poured floods of water into the building, effectually drowning all the fire that remained.

MEETING OF THE PRINTERS. A meeting of the printers of Portland was held Friday afternoon, for the purpose of considering the subject of getting up a building for printers. The want of such a building was acknowledged by all present, and a committee was appointed to consider and report on the subject. Now is the time, if ever, for the publishers of papers in this city to have such a building erected as will accommodate them in every way.

DEATH FROM EXPOSURE. Patrick Gleason, a laboring man, who has not enjoyed very good health, exposed and overworked himself to such a degree on Thursday that he died yesterday quite suddenly.

THE INSURED. From all the information we can gather, we can gather, we are satisfied that notwithstanding the heavy drains that will be made upon various Insurance Offices, the losses will be promptly paid, with, perhaps, the exception of the Portland Mutual, which office may be obliged to compromise with the policy holders. This has always been a favorite and fortunate office and a very large number of the dwelling-houses that were burned, were insured in it and have been for a long series of years.

OPENING THE VAULTS. Crowds collected yesterday, in the vicinity of the banks, to witness the opening of the vaults and safes. The 1st National, 2d National, National Traders, Cumberland National, Portland Savings' Bank and the Insurance safes and vaults were opened, and everything was found safe. Not a paper was injured.

"BREAD AND BUTTER." Emphatically a Bread and Butter proceeding is the call for a National Convention to assemble at Philadelphia, on the 14th of August next. The object is "to hold counsel together upon the state of the Union, and to take measures to avert possible danger from the same." The signers are A. W. Randall, who eats the Johnson crumbs, in the position of Assistant Postmaster General; O. H. Browning, formerly U. S. Senator by appointment from Illinois, and now a political Micawber; James R. Doolittle, Edgar Cowan, D. S. Norton and James Dixon, Senators respectively from the States of Iowa, Pennsylvania, Minnesota and Connecticut, and all in the awkward position of being near the expiration of their official term, and enjoying the utter repudiation of their parties, so that a foreign appointment for other fat broth, at the hands of the President, will be most desirable if not positively necessary.—In addition to these gentlemen of ruined political fortunes, the call also has the endorsement of T. A. Hendricks and J. W. Nesmith, Senators from Indiana and Oregon, and both copperheads. The latter will be replaced next spring by a Republican, the Legislature of his State being of that complexion. He is, therefore, equally in need of Presidential charity.—[Norristown Herald.

TYPOGRAPHICAL LIBEL. The printed reports made Mr. Darling of New York say in Congress, the other day, in his eulogy of his late colleague, Mr. Humphrey, that "his gentlemanly spirit winged its way to his Maker". So salient an instance of absurd rhetoric naturally attracted attention, and the quotation from Mr. Darling's speech has been widely copied, as an instance of vicious "fine writing". But it seems that a typographical blunder, by the omission of a single comma, did the orator gross wrong, and that what he did actually say in describing the peaceful death of his friend, was that "without a single groan the gentle, manly spirit of James Humphrey was wafted into the presence of his Maker".

AUTOMATIC MOVEMENTS OF A CORPSE.—A man named James Haywood died in New York on Friday, of cholera, and an undertaker was called in to lay out the corpse.—In a short time Dr. Waterman, of the Board of Health, was summoned, and told that the man was not dead, the hands, arms and eyelids having moved several times.—The undertaker was frightened and fled from the house, saying the man was alive, and that he would not touch him again. Dr. Waterman found that the movements had been caused by the relaxing of the muscles of the body! The man died of spasms, and the muscles were tightly contracted. After death they became relaxed, causing motions which those present mistook for evidences of life. The medical books record numerous cases of this kind. Sometimes bodies will turn over in bed or in the coffin, and hence stories of burials while alive.

City Drainage—The Keeping of Swine.

The Board of Health recently presented a communication to the City Council as to hog styes and drains, recommending the passage of additional ordinances. Said communication having been referred to the City Solicitor, A. L. Simpson, Esq., he reported essentially as follows:

The law of the State makes it the duty of the owner of every tenement that is used as a dwelling house to provide therefor a sufficient drain to carry off the waste water from the same, and a suitable privy. When it is ascertained that any such dwelling is not so provided, it is made the duty of the Mayor and Aldermen to give notice thereof to the occupant, requiring him within such time as they may appoint, to cause a proper and sufficient drain or privy as the case may require, to be constructed for such tenement. In case the occupant, owner, or agent refuses or neglects to regard said notice and to construct said drain or privy to the acceptance of the Mayor and Aldermen, then they have power to cause such drain or privy to be built—to ascertain and assess the expense, and a like lien is thereby created upon said tenement as is created by the assessment of taxes. It is the duty of the Street Commissioner to give notice to the Mayor or Marshal of any nuisances in the streets.

The Mayor and Aldermen, City Marshal and Commissioner of Streets have ample power under the laws of the State and the ordinances of the city to compel the owner of every tenement to construct a sufficient drain or to pay for having it done. Surely that cannot be a sufficient drain, within the meaning of the law, which deposits filthy and putrid water in our street gutters and in front of our houses; for in such a case a nuisance is created, which it is the duty of the City Marshal to have removed at once and to prosecute the offenders. Hog-styes are perhaps the greatest evil tolerated in our city except the sale and use of intoxicating liquors.

We are informed by the communication referred to, that there are in this warm and unhealthy part of the season, two or three hundred hogs or more in the immediate vicinity of dwelling houses and streets, in the thickly settled parts of the city. Many of the hogs are kept in the most filthy state, under stables and in cellars, deprived of proper light and air, and fed upon garbage and the contents of the manure heap. Meat fattened in this way, cannot be healthy or fit food for man; and yet it is thrown upon our market in large quantities, and eaten by our citizens. If any one will take a view of one of these dens of filth and corruption, bearing in mind that there are strong objections with many to eating pork at all, on account of its tendency to produce scrofula and kindred diseases, and that much of the pork fattened in this manner is infected with trichina—a most terrible and loathsome disease—he will at once and forever abjure all meat of this character, and call imperatively for some radical reform upon the subject.—But this is not the only source of disease caused by keeping hogs in the manner referred to. The disgusting odors, which are concentrated poisons, are constantly entering the system and laying the foundation of disease. Many may have been so much accustomed to it as to perceive its effects but slightly, but the evil remains the same, and will have on that account no less deleterious influence upon the delicate and sensitive organs with which it comes in contact.

Let one lie down at night with open windows and breathe the effluvia arising from a pen containing fifteen or twenty hogs within thirty feet of his sleeping room, and if he wakes in the morning refreshed it must be because he has more of the characteristics of swine than most of us are willing to admit. After having violated the most important laws of our nature, if we suffer the legitimate consequences, we are very apt to say "God has done it," when the fact is we have been committing homicide, slowly it may be, but not the less surely, and are therefore morally responsible for the disease and suffering and death which is upon our track. I would therefore recommend that the city pass such ordinance as will remedy the evils referred to.

U. S. PENSIONS. An act of Congress recently approved provides that "all persons by law entitled to a less pension than hereinafter specified, who while in the military or naval service and in line of duty, shall have lost the sight of both eyes, or who shall have lost both hands, or been permanently and totally disabled in the same, or otherwise so permanently and totally disabled as to render them utterly helpless, or so nearly so as to require the constant personal aid and attendance of another person, shall be entitled to a pension of twenty-five dollars per month; and all persons, who, under like circumstances, shall have lost both feet, or one hand and one foot, or been totally and permanently disabled in the same, or otherwise so disabled as to be incapacitated for performing any manual labor, but not so much so as to require constant personal aid and attention, shall be entitled to a pension of twenty dollars per month; and all persons, who, under like circumstances, shall have lost one hand or one foot, or been totally and permanently disabled in the same, or otherwise so disabled as to render their inability to perform manual labor equivalent to the loss of a hand or a foot, shall be entitled to a pension of fifteen dollars per month."

THE LOYAL MEN OF THE SOUTH. Our Northern "conservatives" seem to ignore the fact, or else are ignorant of it, that a great pressure upon Congress to keep disloyal men out comes up from the persecuted, outraged Union men of the South. The burden of the prayers of these men, who come here almost daily is not as to who shall represent them in Congress, but who shall have jurisdiction and bear civil rule at home in the South. And it is a point not so clearly made as it should be, that the sorest trial these deserving loyalists have to bear is the total abnegation of themselves, and such as they, and the universal elevation to place and power of those who were their bitterest and most relentless persecutors during the bloody rebellion. As a hunted Union man from the far South said, "Loyalty is the only crime thus far made odious at the South." Can a party, can a nation, however glorious its record, stand under the withering curse, the condign ignominy of such a charge truthfully made? As a case in point a literal transcript of an appeal made by a devoted Unionist at the South to one of the most distinguished of our Western Congressmen is given as follows:

It is not so much who represents them in Congress, as it is who shall have control of the machinery of government here at home, that most concerns the loyal citizens here in the South. Vile rebel constituencies will now, perhaps, send up to Congress loyal representatives, that they may the sooner and better obtain the power and authority to crush out the last vestige of love and respect for the institutions of our country here in the South. They can do that most effectually under the present State organizations. One flag has but recently been taken to a party of the leading rebels in this place, to be torn in two and trampled under foot by one of the first ladies (as THEY call them) of this place; and the men wear the rebel gray both night and day, to show their contempt for the government and Union men.

Such are the appeals and such the concurrent testimony of all as to the failure of the "policy," whatsoever it may be, of placing every State government at the South in the hands of unrepentent rebels.

The chief cause of Senator Lane's attempt at self-destruction, is said to have been the cold manner in which he was received by his Kansas constituents, on account of his abandonment of republican principles and alliance with the President. Mr. Lane voted for the Civil Rights on its first passage but, under influences which he was too weak to resist, voted against the bill when it came up again to be passed over the President's veto. This vote occasioned remark at the time; it seems to have closed his political career in Kansas. A correspondent of the Tribune writes that when Mr. Lane, after the vote against the Civil Rights bill, returned to Lawrence, where he had previously been a man of potent influence, he found himself universally abandoned by his friends:—

"His first appearance upon the streets of Lawrence shocked him with a sense of his terrible error. In the town where he had once walked a monarch, no one spoke to him. Old friends passed him without recognition on the sidewalk. On horseback, in the principal street, he rode unrecognized and rejected. He went to his house and sent for many of his old friends to come and see him. They returned answer that they wished to have no intercourse with him.—Two days after his arrival Representative Clark called from Washington. What a contrast and what a lesson! A vast crowd met and welcomed him with music and flags. A public meeting applauded his votes, honored him for his fidelity, and pledged to him the love and support of Kansas."

This instance, says the Lewiston Journal, ought to serve as a warning to other political time-servers who are following President Johnson. The people have marked them all, and they will sooner or later read the hand-writing on the wall.

WHITE RACE IS MOST "SELF-SUPPORTING." Major General C. B. Fisk, Assistant Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau in Tennessee, has reported to the Commissioner that the number of rations issued in that district during the month of June was as follows:

To white persons,	23,000
To freedmen,	4,686
Total	27,686

The number issued during the year ending June 1, 1866, was—

To white persons,	955,546
To colored persons,	610,851
Total,	1,566,397

There was a singular case in regard to the custody of children before the supreme court at Boston, last week. The father and mother are separated, and there were four children, one a boy 16 years old, and three young girls. The judge decided that the father was not fit to have their custody, as he was living with a woman to whom he was not married, and the mother was equally unfitted by reason of her intemperate habits.—The custody of the girls was finally given to an agent to be appointed by the court, and the father was ordered to pay their board, while the mother must clothe them. The disposition of the boy was not decided on.

A PARACHUTE DESCENT. A Frenchman, gymnast and aeronaut named Baisley, made an ascent from elm Park, 92d street, New York, on the 4th, in a Montgolpier balloon, without any car, performing antics on a trapeze or cross pole suspended beneath, and thus rose to the height of several thousand feet. The Montgolpier is carried up by rarified air from a furnace suspended beneath the nose of the balloon. A rain coming on the balloon and it descended with frightful rapidity into the Hudson river near the Jersey shore, in half an hour from the time of starting. Fortunately it was provided with the umbrella-like attachments called parachute, which opened, and retarded the descent. Even then his contact with the water was very violent, and he was much exhausted from the distance he had to swim to reach the shore.

The Chicago Times (Democratic) thinks that President Johnson has but very little support outside of the Democratic organization. In a recent editorial upon Wisconsin politics it remarks: "Were the vote of the Republican party in Wisconsin taken as to an endorsement of the President or Congress, the latter would have a majority of three-fourths, and to an every Northern State." It might say nine-tenths, we believe.

The police court report of the Richmond Enquirer sometimes contains food for reflection. Two women complained of a third for pushing them into the gutter and throwing stones at them. Of the commission of the offence there seemed to be no doubt.—The defendant simply alleged that the others were negroes. This the court at first refused to believe, as they were entirely white; but evidence of their African descent was produced, and the judge at once discharged the defendant, and ordered the complainants to give bonds to keep the peace. These statements are made by a New York paper.

The Lewiston Journal's correspondent says that Commercial Street on which is located all the large wholesale grocery, provision and flour stores, and where all the shipping lay, was barely saved. At the point on this street where the fire commenced the buildings on the south side of the street were so hot at one time that the hand could not be borne on them. Had the fire crossed the street the whole of Commercial street including the blocks of stores, piles of merchandise and the shipping at the wharves, would have been destroyed. In fact the whole of the easterly part of the city saved, including the Grand Trunk station, would have been leveled to the ground. As it was the fire was turned off from the north side of Commercial street only by the superhuman efforts of about fifty workmen in an old foundry, who stood watch upon the roof.—Subsequently the fire was prevented from crossing Fore street and going down again into Commercial street by the efforts of the Washington Fire Company of Gardiner.

The police of Chicago, Ill., on Saturday night made sudden raid on the free concert and low drinking saloons in that city, and captured about four hundred male and female persons. They were all taken to the station houses and locked up until Monday, in spite of the most pitiful entreaties.

To the Public of Bangor and Vicinity.

Having been requested, in common with others, to contribute in aid of the sufferers by the late disastrous fire in Portland, I very much regret my inability to do anything directly in behalf of so laudable an object. "My poverty and not my will consents" to saying nay, to any of my suffering brethren in this great calamity.

My residence of four years abroad, while it added but little to my pecuniary resources, has enabled me to treasure up some interesting incidents of foreign travel and observation, pertaining mainly to Spanish characteristics and scenes; embracing some sketches of Granada and the far-famed Alhambra, as well as Valencia, my particular place of abode, while in Spain. These views and observations I have embodied in the form of a poetical Lecture, occupying perhaps an hour in the delivery, which I should gladly recite publicly as a humble contribution in aid of our Portland brethren; and for this purpose would give notice that I will lecture at the City Hall, in Bangor, on Thursday next the 12th inst., at 8 o'clock P. M.

Tickets, at twenty-five cents each, or five for a dollar, will be for sale seasonably at the Bookstores and at the door of the Lecture Hall in the evening

July 10, 1866. GEORGE KENT.

P. S. Hon. A. G. Wakefield, Mayor, has kindly consented to take charge of the avails of the Lecture, for the purpose specified: to be paid over to him by the several vendors of tickets. As the object is charity to its full extent, the Lecturer will not feel at liberty to discriminate among his friends by the giving away of any complimentary tickets.

An Effectual Worm Medicine.

BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS.

Or Worm Lozenges. Much sickness, and oftentimes death, with children and adults, attributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. The "VERMIFUGE COMFITS," although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child.—This valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be safe and effective in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children.

CHILDREN HAVING WORMS require immediate attention, as neglect of the trouble often causes protracted sickness.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS IN CHILDREN are often overlooked. Worms in the stomach are frequently the cause of vomiting, which can be removed only by the use of some remedy. The combination of ingredients used in making Brown's "Vermifuge Comfits" is such as to give the best possible effect with safety.

An Invaluable Spring Medicine.

DR. J. W. POLAND'S

HUMOR DOCTOR.

This excellent medicinal remedy was first prepared by Dr. Polan 1847, and was then employed with great success in expelling humors from the blood; but in 1856, a medical friend, who was quite celebrated as a physician, especially in the treatment of humors, suggested some important improvements, which were adopted, and which have made it to the people as they are, the very best remedy for all kinds of humors known to the family. This preparation is composed wholly of vegetables, among which are Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock, Burdock, Noble Pine, Mandrake, Senna and Bloodroot. Suffice it to say, the "Doctor" as used in hundreds of families as a general medicine. Unlike many other popular remedies, it is very grateful to the taste.

ACTION OF THE CITY GOVERNMENT.

Other Cities Still Coming Forward with Aid.

News from Washington

Another Nergo Riot in the City of Charleston.

Thaddeus Stevens Named as U. S. Senator.

Later from Mexico.

PORTLAND, July 9.

The executive committee distributed all the clothing on hand this morning, and still found thousands of applicants suffering sadly. It is desirable that any clothing which has been donated should be forwarded at once, addressed to Woodbury L. Dana, ward room No. 5.

Belina Chickering, a truckman, and his mother, were burnt to death in his house on Larch street. Their bodies were discovered to-day.

An important meeting of the city government was held to-night. Orders were passed appointing committees to establish grades, widen, locate and discontinue streets in the burnt district, and a general revision of the lines of streets will probably be made.

An order was also passed instituting a committee on a public park and a market in the burnt district.

Also appointing a committee on re-building the city government buildings.

An order was introduced requesting the Governor to call a special session of the Legislature for the purpose of adopting the Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, and at the same time time to give additional powers to the city of Portland, so that compensation may be claimed as well as allowed in cases of altering streets. This was referred to the City Solicitor.

WASHINGTON, July 9.

A meeting has been called for, to-morrow evening, under the auspices of the Mayor of Washington, of the citizens of Maine now sojourning here and others, for the purpose of taking measures for the relief of the Portland sufferers.

WASHINGTON, July 9.

A caucus of the Union members of Congress will be held to-morrow evening.

WASHINGTON, July 9.

The Superintendent of Indian Affairs writes that he met several tribes of Indians and concluded one or two treaties. The Indians manifest good feeling towards the government.

The President will direct Gen. Sickles to surrender the four murderers of a non-commissioned officer and two soldiers under writ of habeas corpus on him by the district court of Charleston.

AUGUSTA, Ga., July 9.

There was a riot in the market at Charleston on Saturday night last. Some negro soldiers were blocking up the passage way and were requested to desist, by the police. The party of negroes then left, but returned reinforced and fired into the police, dangerously wounding one or two colored bystanders. Forty policemen charged and routed the mob.

In reply to the charge that he is interested in a cotton plantation, General Tillson says:

"I certify upon my honor that I am not interested, directly or indirectly, in planting, in this or any other State."

PHILADELPHIA, July 9.

Gen. Sherman arrived here this morning and is the guest of Gen. Meade. Our city authorities and the whole community tendered all the courtesies possible to him. He was serenaded to-night. He will leave in the morning for New York.

LANCASTER, Pa., July 9.

Thaddeus Stevens is announced as a candidate for United States Senator with his consent.

SANDY HOOK, July 9.

The little ship Yankee Doodle, Captain Hudson, cleared the Hook at 5 o'clock p. m., bound for Europe.

MATAMORAS, July 4.

Trade dull. The people are frightened, and expecting forced loans. Cortinas has arrived and contests the governorship with Canavajal. The soldiers are full of plunder and acting badly. 200 were wounded at Camargo.

The Imperialists are concentrating at Monterey, to move down and occupy Rio Grande valley.

The Liberals are discordant.

NEW YORK, July 9.

The Commercial says:

The stock market is less buoyant and firm. Speculative interest is well sustained throughout the railroad list, and extending to miscellaneous stocks.

There is rather less inquiry for money.—Call loans 5 per cent, but indications point to an early return to 6 per cent.

Gold opened at 52, fell to 51½, and at 1:30 was 52.

Sterling exchange quiet but firmer. Sixty day bills 108½@108¾. Importers are borrowing exchange quite freely to escape buying gold.

Private advices by the Saxonia represent the money market on the continent easier.

At London a reduction in the bank rate was expected to take place June 28.

GALVESTON, Texas, July 9.

Generals Steadman and Fullerton are taking testimony. Gen. Steadman publicly remarked that the Bureau in Texas has been and is well conducted and requires no further investigation.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 9.

At a meeting of citizens in City Hall to-night, a committee were appointed to wait on our business men and ask aid for the Portland sufferers.

NEW YORK, July 9.

This afternoon a boy 14 years of age by the name of M. W. Cooper, employed by Messrs. Congrave, Sturgis & Cooper, had a bag containing $2130 in gold, snatched from his hand while standing in the Cashier's office of the Custom House by an unknown man. He pursued the man, but soon fell senseless in the street, from the effects of chloroform it is thought, and the man escaped. The money belonged to Janssin, Schmidt & Rupes, and was about to be paid for customs.

The Chamber of Commerce raised nearly $50,000 to-day for Portland.

Five deaths from cholera have been reported in Brooklyn in 48 hours.

FORTRESS MONROE, July 9.

Bark Aquila, from Rio Janeiro, has been placed under bonds by the Collector of Norfolk on a charge of smuggling coffee and liquors.

NEW ORLEANS, July 9.

The convention proclamation is universally ridiculed as the work of demagogues.—Judge Howell was not President, but put for the occasion. The real President refused to call the convention.

Texas cotton news unfavorable; crop estimated at about one-fourth.

Cotton unchanged.

NEW YORK July 9.

The tiny ship Red, White & Blue, 2½ tons burden, cleared to-day for London.

BOSTON, July 9.

Four deaths were reported from sunstroke yesterday and day before.

Weather to-day cool and pleasant.

During the thunder shower last evening lightning struck the dwelling of Mr. George Fairbanks in Hudson, Mass., killing his daughter Emma, aged 13, and prostrating other members of the family, but not fatally. Lightning killed several cattle in the neighborhood.

Nearly forty-two thousand dollars was subscribed within three hours to-day, in State street, for Portland. It is expected cash subscriptions in Boston will reach one hundred thousand dollars by to-morrow.

GARDINER, Me., July 9.

William Bros. Street & Sons of this city, subscribed to-day five hundred dollars in aid of the Portland sufferers, which swells the cash amount raised here already to upwards of $1100, over $800 of which has been forwarded to Portland. Contributions are still going on.

NEW YORK, July 9.

Steamship Alpha, from Liverpool 27th and Queenstown 28th, arrived at this port this evening. Her advices are not fully one day later, except in a commercial point of view, than per the Saxonia.

Steamship Erin, from New York, arrived out on the 27th.

Latest by Telegraph to Queenstown.

London, June 27th—Evening. Resignations of British Ministers have been accepted.

Earl of Derby will probably be Premier, and Lord Stanley, Foreign Minister, but nothing official as yet transpired.

There have been no further reports of fighting on the Continent.

Thirty Ninth Congress.

FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON, July 8.

Senate.

Bills to enlarge and improve the arsenal grounds at St. Louis and to authorize the sale of government property at Harper's Ferry were reported from the military committee.

A resolution was adopted calling on the Secretary of War for a copy of the Medical and Statistics of the war.

A bill was passed prohibiting any State from making pilot regulations which discriminate against vessels of any other State.

A joint resolution was introduced giving the Union Pacific Railroad the right of way through military reservation.

The army bill was taken up.

Mr. Wade moved an amendment to the army bill to provide for three colored regiments, instead of two. Agreed to.

An amendment was adopted that officers when retired by reason of wounds be retired on the rank held by them at the time of receiving such wounds, whether in the regular or volunteer service.

An amendment was adopted that in appointing officers, if they are commanding volunteers, they can be counted either as volunteer or regular officers.

The provision for retaining three regiments of veteran reserves was stricken out.

The House resolution for the relief of certain army officers was passed.

Several amendments were offered and rejected.

The bill was then passed.

A bill was reported regulating the time and manner of holding elections for Senators to Congress.

Adjourned.

House.

Mr. Hibbard of Conn, introduced a resolution, which was adopted, directing the committee on public lands to inquire into the expediency of donating lands for endowment of female colleges in the several States and presented a memorial of the Connecticut Legislature on the subject.

A resolution was adopted calling upon the Secretary of the Treasury for information at the next session in reference to the trade between the United States and British Provinces.

A bill was introduced to change the time of the annual meeting of Congress to the first Monday in November. Referred.

A resolution was was adopted directing the Secretary of the Treasury to furnish a statement of receipts and expenses of the government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1866.

A resolution was adopted directing the Secretary of War to inform the House as to the number of negroes leased, under the direction of the War Department from the beginning of the late war to persons not belonging to the army, showing the number leased to white persons and the number placed to colored persons.

A bill was introduced to further provide for the safety of passengers on board steam and sail vessels. Referred.

A concurrent resolution was introduced that Congress when it adjourn, a certain day not fixed, shall take a recess, to meet Saturday, the first day of December next. Referred.

A resolution was adopted that the committee on military affairs inquire into the expediency of paying soldiers the bounty of $8,88 for the time they were in the service after the year for which they were enlisted.

Mr McClung, from the committee on elections, reported that Koontz was entitled to a seat from Pennsylvania, instead of Mr Coffroth.

The report was ordered to be printed.

Mr Schenck review ed the proposition which he made last Saturday in reference to the army bill and there being no objection, he reported back the Senate bill and moved as a substitute therefor the House bill.

The substitute was agreed to by a vote of 93 to 30, and the bill as amended was passed.

The title was amended so as to read a bill to reorgatized and establish the army of the United States.

The House then went into a committee of the whole and took up the tariff bill.

An amendment was adopted striking out the 16th section and inserting one authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to give to the Alabama and Florida railroads five years credit for duties on railroad iron.

A new section was added relative to the export of guanos.

The time fixed for this to take effect is on the first of August, 1866.

An amendment was adopted that goods in the hands of importers at the time of passage of this act shall pay the additional duties levied by it.

The collection of a direct tax was suspended until January 1868.

The remainder of the bill having been acted on the committee rose and reported the bill to the House.

The tariff bill comes up as unfinished business to-morrow.

The vote agreeing to the conference committees report on the bill to prevent smuggling was reconsidered and the bill recommitted.

The Senate's amendments to the bill extending the benefits of section four of the army appropriation bill of 1865 were concurred in.

Adjourned.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

—The shower of Sunday afternoon was very heavy in this vicinity—the most violent for a short time that we have had for years. It was accompanied by some heavy gusts of wind, which we apprehend must have done some damage in this region. We hear of a small unfinished house in Brewer, being blown down. The lightning struck a fine elm old tree near Mr. J. W. Carr's house, in this city—also the flag-staff at the gun-house in Brewer, and a bolt entered the ground in the road in Brewer, just ahead of the Ellsworth stage, which was coming in.

MORE DAMAGE BY LIGHTNING. The Exeter Driver brings us the following:

Messrs. Wheeler & Lynde:

The house of Albert Morrison, of Exeter, was struck by lightning on Saturday evening last, set on fire and badly shattered. The fire was soon extinguished. All the family except one son had taken shelter at a neighbor's. The son, with a young man in neighborhood, were rendered insensible for a time. Mr. Morrison lost his buildings by fire about five years since.

ANOTHER. A correspondent informs us that during a severe thunder shower on the evening of the 7th inst., the store of A. Webb & Co., in Lowell, in this county, was struck by lightning. Damage slight.

OXEN KILLED BY LIGHTNING. John Sawyer of Monmouth, lost six oxen, valued at $750, Sunday afternoon, by lightning. They were grazing in a pasture.

—The Morris Brothers and Trowbridge Minstrels, have donated $50 for the Portland sufferers, the net proceeds of their concert on Saturday evening.

—The Universalist Society make their annual excursion on the barge Fairy of the Wave, next Thursday, starting at 7½ o'clock A. M.

CLOTHING FOR THE PORTLAND SUFFERERS. Persons wishing to contribute clothing for the destitute sufferers in Portland are requested to send it to the Furniture Store of C. W. Merrill, 66 Main St. Packages will be received all day Tuesday, and forwarded Wednesday morning.

LECTURE IN BEHALF OF THE PORTLAND SUFFERERS. It will be seen by special notice that GEORGE KENT, Esq., recently United States Consul at Valencia, Spain, will deliver a poetical lecture on Thursday evening, at City Hall, upon some of the more interesting and historical features of the Spanish Kingdom—the proceeds to be added to the Bangor fund now being raised in aid of the Portland sufferers. Mr. Kent is well known in our city being a brother of Judge Kent, as a gentleman of education and literary culture, and will undoubtedly give a very interesting lecture. See his notice.

—We understand that Tiger Engine Co. No. 6, of this city, has voted $250 for the relief of the firemen of Portland.

—Mr. A. H. Wright has accepted a call from the Congregational Church in Winterport—not Wintrop, as misprinted yesterday.

—So faithfully and effectively did the Torrent Fire Company, of Bath, work at the Portland fire, that owners of property saved made them a present of $100, which the relief fund, as we learn from the Bath Times.

—A Portland letter in the Lewiston Journal says: "From Bangor to New York there have been manifestations of genuine kindness and generosity which, to say nothing of the substantial aid rendered, has been of incalculable value in encouraging and sustaining the people of this city, in their affliction.

ONE OF THE BOWDOIN PARK BURGLARS ARRESTED. It is reported that a man was arrested in Portland on Saturday, who is identified as one of the Bowdoinham robbers. A considerable quantity of the things, notes and money was found on him, says the Lewiston Journal.

—The trains from this city to Portland were crowded to-day, many persons going from here to see the ruins of Portland. The crowd was so great that many were unable to find even standing places on the train, and were forced to stay at home.—Lewiston Journal.

DROWNED. A young man about 20 years of age, son of the widow Larkin, was drowned while bathing in Black stream, Lamoine, on Sunday.

City Affairs.

IN BOARD OF COUNCIL,

MT. VERNON, July 7, 1866.

Mr. Editor:

In these times of excitement, of robberies, of fires, etc., it becomes every citizen to help become a public benefactor, to be on the lookout for the public good, for the safety of property from fires, from robberies, to help the unfortunate who have lost by fires and otherwise, to be a detective when they see suspicious persons or circumstances. The sufferers of the late Portland fire are subjects of our sympathy, even to the putting our hands in our pockets and assisting them, until they are able to get along for themselves. It is not so much the rich man who has lost his tens of thousands that now needs our help, as it is the poor hard working laborer or mechanic, with his dependent family, who has lost his all—be it but little—who now has no shelter or wherewith to clothe and feed his destitute family.

The probability is that many goods and articles at the late fire were stolen by unprincipled persons, which will be used by them or sold to others. Such should be returned to the losers, and a lookout kept for such thieves.

At Readfield Depot, last week, two small boys about twelve years of age, strangers there, were quite flush with money, each of them having $50 7-30 Treasury notes which they were trying to get changed to other money—offering to give in the interest due, only one of which they were able to get changed. It may be all right—but the question arises, how happens such small boys alone with such denomination of money? Was it some of the Bowdoinham stolen money, or from some other such source? As I have said above, I belive it the duty of every citizen or person to be on the lookout for the public as well as individual good.

RUSNAM.

FIRE AT CHERRYFIELD. A fire broke out on Sunday morning at Stillwater Mills, in Cherryfield, belonging to A. Campbell & Co. The mills were entirely consumed. There were three gang saws, lath, shingle and clapboard machines, &c. The property was worth about $2b,000, and quite a number of men were turned out of employment. We did not learn if there was any insurance.

—The Legislature of New Hampshire has appropriated by an unanimous vote the sum of five thousand dollars, for the use of the Mayor of Portland in relieving the sufferers in that city.

—The editor of the Brunswick Telegraph was shown, Thursday, burnt paper and other articles, evidently blown from the fire at Portland, coming a distance of at least 40 miles in a direct line.

NO LIVES LOST. The Portland Press says, notwithstanding the fearful destruction of property, we have something to be very grateful for. That is, that there was no loss of life, and no serious injuries by the overwhelming fire. We have made strict and careful enquiries of persons who would be cognizant of such cases, if any had occurred, and can learn that but two or three slight casualties happened.

—E. W. Hakelm, of Lewiston, will manufacture 2,500,000 feet of lumber per year, for salt and spruce gum boxes.

THE DESTRUCTION OF MASONIC HALL. A letter from a Masonic friend in Portland informs us that the charters of all the Masonic bodies were saved at the late fire. The jewels of all except Portland Commandery, were also saved. The records of all the Masonic bodies, except Greenleaf Chapter, were saved. Everything else in the Hall was destroyed. The Grand Lodge leased a room in Canal Bank building, supposed to be fire proof, in which they stored valuable papers and property. This was all removed through the exertions of Grand Master Murray, and saved.

—The new steam frigate Piscataqua is receiving her machinery at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, and will be ready for her trial trip in the latter part of August. She is a splendid vessel of 3177 tons burthen, and when fitted for service will carry a battery of ten guns. There are eight of the same class of vessels now building for the government at the various navy yards.

AN ACT OF HEROISM. The Portland Press publishes the following. This gallant act of Capt. Frank L. Jones, deserves especial attention.

During the progress of the fire on Thursday morning on the north side of Cumberland St., and near the corner of Pearl, it was judged that unless the brick house of John True, Esq., (formerly of Bangor,) was blown up, nothing could save the Bradford House and the balance of Pearl street from destruction. The second story of Mr True's house being already on fire, and cinders and coals falling in showers around the door, the idea of using gunpowder was about to be abandoned, when Capt Frank L. Jones, late of the 30th Me., of this city, seized a keg of powder and fuse, dashed through the flying sparks into the house, affixed and ignited the fuse, escaping just in time to avoid the explosion. The blowing up of this house saved all Pearl street from Cumberland street to the Cove, and the whole of Oxford street north.

MAINE VESSEL LOST. A Providence despatch of the 8th says that brig Yazoo, Nichols, master, from Baltimore, of and for Richmond, Maine, with a cargo of ship timber, caught fire from a kerosene lamp in the cabin on the night of the 6th inst. in lat. 34° 48', lon. 72° 25', and was burnt to the water's edge. Captain Nichols and crew, eight in number, took to the boat, and were picked up on the 7th thirty miles south of Fire Island Light, by the schooner J. B. Bartlett, from Philadelphia, and landed at this port this afternoon. The captain and mate lost everything. The crew saved their clothing. The Yazoo was an A 1½ vessel, built at Richmond in 1863, and valued at $25,000. She was partially insured. The captain owned one-sixteenth.

WATERVILLE. The Mail says, "next to Bangor, probably, this is the largest shipping point of potatoes in the State; many of the farmers providing annually for the market hundreds and some of them thousands of bushels. In the 'potato season' it is not unusual to have our streets crowded with teams all loaded, with potatoes, for which the farmers receive remunerative prices.

THE LAW'S DELAY. A man in New York State was run over by the cars on the Hudson river railroad in 1855 and his wife sued the company for damages and brought her case before the Justice's Court. No less than seven appeals have been taken, and the case last taken up before the Court of Appeals. There all the former decisions were reversed, and the case sent back to the Justice's Court. Thus, after eleven year's litigation and eight trials, the case is just where it started.

PORTLAND. The Press of yesterday gave a list of cash donations already received from outside the city amounting to $69,483. The Bangor contributions, amounting to over $10,000, occupy a prominent place in the list. Our people have certainly been as liberal and generous as those of any other place.

About $60,000 has been raised in Boston, and more than that in New York. Dispatches have been received from San Francisco, Chicago, Milwaukie and other places, stating that material aid would be furnished.

The following items are from The Press of Monday:

AN UNENVIABLE SITUATION. Z. K. Harmon, his son and two seamen, were in the Custom House building during the whole progress of the fire on those premises. They were busily engaged in removing property to that place and storing it away, and when they attempted to leave found the doors closed! They went up stairs and fought the fire which was making its way into the room. Finally it got too hot for them and they retreated to the cellar, where they remained until the fire had passed that point and the door could be open, when they came out of the fiery furnace like Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, of whom we read in the book of Daniel, without the smell of fire upon their garments.

AN UNCOMFORTABLE SITUATION. On Wednesday afternoon a man was committed to the lock-up in the city building. In the excitement of the fire, the poor fellow was forgotten and he remained in his cell all night, while the building over his head was on fire. But he slept soundly unconscious of his danger, and in the morning was found bright and sober. A hearty breakfast was furnished him and he was discharged. The lock-up was not injured in the least degree by the fire overhead.

John Johnson of Bath was caught in the act of stealing the wallet of Mr. Jacobs of Skowhegan.

CHURCH STRUCK BY LIGHTNING. During the thunder shower yesterday afternoon about 6 o'clock, the lightning struck the lower part of the steeple of State-st. Church. The fire department was promptly on hand, but the fire being above the bell deck it was with difficulty it could be reached. The difficulties were, however, surmounted, and at the time we left Portland, 20 minutes past 6, the firemen had the flames under control.

The Sabbath after the fire was improved by the pastors of the several churches in this city, whose houses of worship are standing, in lessons upon this mournful event, which were solemn and affecting. It was the saddest Sabbath Portland has ever witnessed.

INSURANCE. The amount of insurance in about forty offices, as ascertained up to 6 o'clock Saturday, was $3,384,200. Probably when fully ascertained, the aggregate will be swollen to nearly $5,000,000.

BANGOR DAILY WHIG AND COURIER.

Whig & Courier

The Quaker and the Highwayman.

Toby Simpson, a pattern to Quakers, inhabited a neat little house in London, beautified by the presence of his daughter Mary. She was scarcely seventeen, a beautiful blonde, with blue eyes, and possessing as much wisdom as beauty, was sought after by all the young men among her father's acquaintances. Those of the neighborhood tried in vain to win a smile. Mary was not a coquette, and so far from turning to account the effect produced by her charms, she felt so much annoyed by it that she could hardly treat with civility her many admirers, one only excepted—Edward Weresford—a young artist, who was intimate with the family.

A simple occurrence was the cause of this intimacy. Premature death had taken away the wife of the Quaker, still in her youth and beauty, and he, wishing to perpetuate the memory of one so dear to him, had called a painter to her death-bed. It was there that Edward first met the afflicted daughter—there, between the tears of the one and the sacred employment of the other, grew up a serious attachment. The year passed since that event had only served to strengthen the bond formed under such circumstances, and the young man had already ventured to declare his hopes and desires.

Toby had no reason for opposing the inclinations of the young people. Without being rich, Edward earned, by means of his brush and palette, enough to honorably maintain a family. His father, Mr. Weresford, an old city merchant, had retired with an immense fortune—a rare example of repeated successes in speculations, so rapid, even, that very few persons had been able to follow their progress. Mr. Weresford, being of a quick, stern disposition, lived alone in the west end of London, without troubling himself about his son, leaving him to shift for himself. He was one of those obliging egotists, who troubled no one, in order not to be themselves troubled—one of the most perfectly complaisant, provided nothing is asked of them. Edward, then, had nothing to hinder him in his courtship of the fair Quakeress, well knowing that her father would not oppose her marriage.

The situation of the lovers was most prosperous, and old Toby waited for nothing to fix the wedding day, save the back rents due him on his farms, intending to set apart that income to defray the expenses of the occasion. With this view he left for his country seat, a few miles from London in order to arrange his affairs. He was absent from home but a single day, and returning at night on horseback, he perceived, a little in advance, a horseman who blocked up the road. He stopped for a moment, uncertain whether to proceed or turn back. While in this predicament the stranger advanced toward him. It was too late to think of escaping, and putting the best possible face on the affair, he started his horse again. As he approached the troublesome stranger, he perceived that he was masked, an unpleasant augury of what was soon confirmed. The unknown drew a pistol, and pointed it to the traveler, demanding his purse. The Quaker was not a coward, but calm in character, inoffensive in religion, and unable, being unarmed, to resist an armed man, with the greatest coolness he drew from his pocket his purse containing twelve guineas.

The highwayman took it counted out the money, and let the Quaker pass, who, believing himself cleared, quickened his pace to a trot. But the highwayman seeing how little resistance had been offered, and hoping for more booty, soon rejoined honest Toby, and again blocked up the way, and pointing his pistol, cried out, 'Your watch!'

The Quaker, although surprised, did not show it in the least, and coolly taking out his watch, and noticing the time, placed the jewel in the hand of the thief, saying:

'Now, I pray you, let me go home, for my daughter will feel uneasy at my absence.'

'One moment,' cried the masked cavalier, growing more hardened by his continued docility, 'swear that you have no other sum.'

'I never swear,' replied the Quaker.

'Well, affirm, then, that you have no more money about you, and upon the word of a highwayman, who will not resort to violence toward a man who yields with so much grace, I will no further molest you.'

Toby reflected a moment and shook his head. 'Whoever thou art,' said he gravely, 'you have noticed that I am a Quaker, who would not conceal the truth, although at the risk of my life. In my saddle-bags I have the sum of two hundred pounds sterling.'

'Two hundred pounds sterling!' cried the highwayman, whose eyes glistened through his mask.

'If you are good, if you are human,' replied the Quaker, 'you will not take this money. My daughter is about being married, and this sum is necessary for the occasion. It would be a long time before I could get together a similar sum; the dear child loves her intended, and it would be exceedingly cruel to deny their union. You have a heart, perhaps you have loved; you would not, cannot do so wicked an action.'

'What has your daughter, her lover, or the marriage, got to do with me? Fewer words and more promptness. Give me the money!'

Toby, sighing, raised the saddle-bags, took out a heavy sack and handed it slowly to the highwayman, and then attempted to gallop away.

'Hold on, my Quaker friend,' said the highwayman, seizing the bridle; 'the moment of your arrival you will denounce me to the magistrate; that is usual, and I have nothing to say, but must, at least, be beyond pursuit to-night. My mare is feeble enough, and what is more, she is fatigued; your horse, on the contrary, appears vigorous, for the weight of the sack did not encumber him. Now dismount, and give me your horse; you may take mine, if you wish.'

It was too late to think of resisting, and although the increasing demands were of a nature to heat the bile of the most patient man, good Toby dismounted, and with resignation accepted the sorry jade that was left in exchange. 'Had I known this,' he contented himself with saying, 'I should have fled away when I first met the rascal, and certainly he would never have overtaken me with this courser.'

Meanwhile the masked man, thanking him ironically for his complaisance, buried his rowels, disappeared.

Before arriving in London, the plundered traveler had time to reflect on his situation, and upon the disappointment of the poor young folks who loved each other so much, and whose happiness would be postponed. The sum taken from him was irrevocably lost; there were neither means to find nor recognize the thief; nevertheless, as though struck by a sudden thought, he stopped short.

'Yes!' cried he, I may succeed by this means. If this man resides in London, perhaps I shall be able to find him. Heaven has, doubtless, determined that he should be imprudent!'

A little consoled by some hope, Toby went home without appearing the least troubled, and without speaking of his adventure. He did not go to a magistrate, but embraced his daughter who doubted nothing, and as usual retired and slept with pleasant dreams. The next morning he commenced his researches. Bringing out the mare from the stable where she had passed the night, he placed the bridle upon her neck, hoping that the animal, guided by habit, would naturally go to her master's home.

He let the unchecked beast go free in the streets of London, and followed her. But he overrated her instinct; for a long time she walked about, making a thousand turns or curves, without object or direction; sometimes stopping, then starting in a contrary course. Toby despaired; the thief, thought he, never resided in London; how silly I was not to notify a magistrate before it was too late, instead of depending on this animal to find the vagabond.

He was interrupted in his reflections by the cries of the children who had been nearly trod upon by the mare—a moment since so quiet, now she started to run.

'Stop her! Stop her!' cried every one.

'Let her go!' cried the Quaker, 'in the name of Heaven do not stop her.'

And following with anxiety the course of the animal, he saw her enter the half open gateway of a splendid residence at the West End.

'Tis here, thought the Quaker, thankfully raising his eyes to Heaven. Then in passing before the house, he saw a servant in the yard patting the beast, and conducting her to the stable. He then asked of the first person he met the name of the proprietor of the house.

'What, are you a stranger in this part of the town, that you do not know the residence of the rich merchant Weresford?'

The Quaker stood petrified.

'Weresford!' repeated the man, distinctly, believing himself misunderstood; 'you well know the man who has made so great a fortune.'

'Thanks, my friend, thanks,' replied Toby.

He was unable to recover himself. 'Weresford, Edward's father—a respectable man—he my thief!'

He believed himself the butt of a dream, and wished to return home. Nevertheless, he called to mind several instances of respectable men who had been connected with bands of malefactors. Then his immense fortune, the source of which was so uncertain, then his mare, which seemed to be going to her master. Toby was determined to solve the mystery. He went boldly into the yard, and demanded speech with the master, who although it was nearly noon, was still in bed—another indication of a night of fatigue. The Quaker insisted upon being introduced immediately, and soon found himself in Weresford's bed-chamber. He had just waked, and rubbing his eyes, asked, a little out of humor;

'Who are you sir, and what do you want?'

The sound of his voice awakened Toby's recollection and completed his conviction. Quietly taking a chair, he posted himself near the bed, without removing his hat.

'You remain covered!' cried the surprised merchant.

'I am a Quaker,' replied the other with much calmness, 'and you know that such is our usage.'

At the first words of the Quaker, Weresford sprung up, and closely examined his visitor. Without doubt he recognized him, for he turned pale.

'Well,' said he stammering, 'what is, if you please, the—the—subject which brings you hither?'

'I ask pardon for having shown so much haste,' replied Toby, 'but among friends it is not usual to stand upon ceremony, and I am come without form, to ask for thy watch which you borrowed yesterday.'

'The—watch!'

'I value it much—it was my poor wife's—and I cannot do without it—my brother-in-law the alderman, never would pardon me for letting a jewel which recalls to mind his sister, pass from my hand a day.'

The name of the alderman seemed to make some impression upon Weresford. Without waiting for a reply, Toby continued:

'You will much oblige me by returning those twelve guineas which I lent you at the same time; nevertheless, if you are in want of them, I consent to lend them to you, on condition that you give me a receipt.'

The coolness of the Quaker so much disconcerted the merchant that he dared not deny the possession of the stolen articles; but, not wishing to acknowledge it, and hesitating to reply, Toby added:

'I have told you of the projected marriage of my daughter Mary. I had received a sum of two hundred pounds sterling for the bride's portion, but I have met with an accident; last evening on the London road, I was completely robbed, so completely that I am come to pray you to give your son a marriage portion, which had it not been for that, I never should have asked of you.'

'My son!'

'Eh! yes; don't you know that it is him that is in love with Mary, and is to marry her?'

'Edward!' cried the merchant, throwing himself at the foot of the bed.

'Edward Weresford,' calmly replied the Quaker, taking a pinch of snuff. 'Let us see; do something for him. I should dislike to have him know what passed last night, and if you do not furnish the sum I have promised, it will be necessary I should tell him how I lost it.'

Weresford ran to a secretary, took out a box with a triple lock, opened it, and placed in the hands of the Quaker his watch, his purse, and his sack of money.

'Good,' said the Quaker, on receiving them; 'I see I was right in depending on you.'

'Is that all you wish?' said the merchant, in a brisk tone.

'No; I require something further of your friendship.'

'Speak!'

'You must disinherit your son.'

'How?'

'You must disinherit him. I do not wish it said that I have speculated upon your fortune,' and finishing these words the Quaker left the chamber. 'No,' murmured he, when alone, 'children are not bound by the faults of their parents. Mary shall marry the son of this man, but touch his stolen money, never.'

When in the yard, 'Ho, my friend!' cried he to Weresford, who was looking out of the window; 'order my horse to be brought out.'

A few moments after, Toby, well mounted, carrying behind him his bag of money, and provided with his watch and purse, at a moderate pace regained his house.

'I have just made my marriage visit to your father,' said he to Edward, whom he found there. 'I believe that we shall be able to agree!'

Two hours after, Weresford arrived at Toby's house, and taking him aside: 'Honest Quaker,' said he, 'your proceeding has touched me to the bottom of my soul, you might have dishonored me, have dishonored my son, ruined me in his estimation, and have made him unhappy in refusing him your daughter; you have acted like a wise man, and a man of heart. I wish no longer to blush in your presence—Take these papers. Good, bye! you will never see me again.'

He then left, and the Quaker opened the papers; first there were checks of large amounts on the best houses in London; then came a long list of names, and by the side of each name was placed the amount of larger or smaller sums; a note was prefixed to it, upon which the Quaker read as follows:

'These are the names of those who have been robbed; the figures are the amounts which ought to be returned. Draw the money from my bankers, as though for the purpose of foreign exchanges, and then make the restitution secretly. All that remains will be my legitimate fortune, and your daughter may be able, some day, to accept of my inheritance.'

The next morning Weresford had left London, and all believed that he was gone to live on his income in France.

On the marriage day of Edward and Mary, the Quaker assembled a large company of joyous friends, among whom might be noticed a number of persons rejoicing themselves with the proceeds of the London thief, who by the interference of Toby had been induced to return to them their lost property with interest.

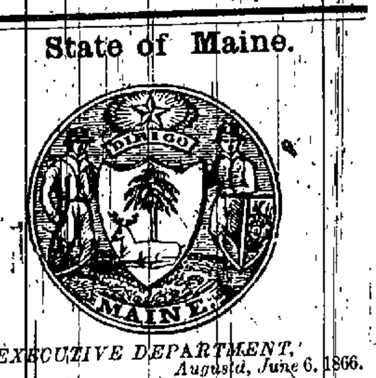
State of Maine.



EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Augusta, June 6, 1866.

To Municipal Authorities:
A CONSTRUCTION has been placed upon the blank applications for State Pension, to which it is perhaps liable, though by no means intended, as will appear by the instructions accompanying the blanks, that every party applying shall declare him or herself a pauper. To correct this, in all cases in which persons applying are not receiving aid, either public or private, the third paragraph of the application signed by the proposed beneficiary, which declares the inability in the second line, should be changed by striking out the words "am" "and," and "continue to," so that line will read "obtain a livelihood for myself and those dependent upon me, and shall be compelled to," &c.
The object of this law is to relieve those who may be paupers, and prevent others from becoming so, and will be so administered.
EPHRAIM FLINT, Secretary of State.

SALE OF PUBLIC LANDS.
LAND OFFICE, Bangor, June 1, 1866.
IN pursuance of law as defined in Chapter 5, Section 32, Revised Statutes, Public Notice is hereby given that the following Schedule of Tracts and Parcels of Lands will be offered for sale on Saturday the first day of September next, at 12 o'clock, noon, at the Land Office in Bangor, at a price per acre not less than the minimum fixed in the advertised list.
The sale to be by Sealed Proposals in conformity with the provisions of the foregoing Chapter and Section, which require that ten per centum of the minimum price of the township or part, shall accompany each proposal, which sum shall constitute a part of, and be allowed in, the cash payment to be made upon the township or tract purchased.
Payments required to be one third cash, remainder in three promissory notes payable annually in one, two and three years, with satisfactory bond for payment of stumpage.
The sum deposited by any other bidder, who does not become a purchaser, may be withdrawn by him at any time after the bids are declared and made.

NICHOLS HOUSE.
The undersigned having leased, for a long term, and thoroughly renovated and refitted the NICHOLS HOUSE, (late "Dwinel House") in Bangor, has this day re-opened the same to the public accommodation.
This Hotel is centrally located, and in close proximity with the Boats and Cars.
The Proprietor has had a long experience in the "Parker House" of East Corinth, and the "Shaw House," of Newport, and flatters himself that to all patrons he will furnish an agreeable and comfortable home. Every effort and expense will be used to make this House as popular and attractive as any in this section of the State.
Livery Stable connected with the House.
Coaches in readiness for any business at all hours.
Stages leave this House daily for all parts of the country.

Notice to the Public!
In the year 1846, the writer embarked in the Drug Business in the city of Philadelphia, and while thus engaged, made several experiments in regard to the most desirable mode of preparing Fluid Extracts. My efforts being successful—the articles being approved and used by the Medical Faculty—I was desirous of placing them before the public, but hesitated for some time before concluding to resort to newspaper advertising, knowing the prejudice that existed in the minds of many against using advertised Medicines or Nostrums, but through the advice of friends and those who had used them this objection was overcome.
After 18 years' exertion, commencing in a small way, the popularity of my articles has extended to all parts of the United States, and widely throughout foreign countries—and this in the face of much opposition. Every means has been resorted to by unprincipled dealers since their merit and success have been known—such as advertising larger bottles at less price, censuring all other preparations, and even copying my advertisements—but I am happy to state that out of the many who have resorted to this, none have been successful.
MY OBJECT
In this notice is to make facts known to the public and respectable dealers, believing, after so many years' exertions, that the Druggists will discountenance such proceedings, and that the reputation of my articles may not be damaged by use of inferior or spurious ones.
Knowing that many may read this article who are unacquainted with me, I append a few remarks, from those of my native city, and whose names are known in all parts of the world:
"Being personally acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold, it affords me pleasure in stating I have been most favorably impressed with his energy and integrity, and gratified at his success."
WM. WEIGHTMAN,
Firm of Powers & Weightman,
Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.
[Evening Bulletin, Philadelphia.]
"When on a visit to the city of New York a few days since, I was induced to call on our old friend and townsman Mr. H. T. Helmbold, Druggist, 594 Broadway, New York. His store is a Model—a perfect Gem—the handsomest of any kind we have ever had the pleasure of viewing, and so extensive, being 34 feet front, five stories in height, and over 200 feet deep. It indeed affords us much pleasure to know that he has been so successful, and it is ample evidence of the merits of his articles—as in our whole business experience we have not known of the success of any articles without Merit—advertising merely bringing the name before the people."
[Boston Herald.]
"We do not like to advertise worthless wares, or articles calculated to deceive our readers; and when we see an advertiser like Mr. Helmbold, whom we have known for years, gradually extend his advertising from year to year until he becomes the largest advertiser in the United States, we are satisfied that the statements in regard to his articles must be correct."
The writer reluctantly inserts the above, and would not do so were he not a stranger to many; and concludes by stating the names of his articles, and the diseases for which they have been used by many thousands with complete success.
[ADVERTISEMENT.]
HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT OF BUCHU
Will cure all diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder. Cures Pain or Weakness in the Back, Strictures, &c. Cures Weak Nerves, Loss of Memory, Trembling, Dimness of Vision.
Helmbold's Fluid Extract of Buchu
Is a pure fluid extract, and not a weak tea or infusion. It is the one thing needful for all complaints incident to Females. For particulars send for Circular.
HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXT. BUCHU
Cures Gravel and Dropsical Swelling existing in Men, Women or Children; in fact, all diseases requiring the aid of a Diuretic. It is the greatest Tonic and Diuretic known—perfectly safe, pleasant in taste and odor and immediate in its action.
HELMBOLD'S
Fluid Extract of Sarsaparilla
HIGHLY CONCENTRATED.
One bottle equivalent in strength to one gallon of the Syrup or Decoction.
It reaches the seat of the disease immediately, expelling all HUMORS of the BLOOD.
And Beautifying the Complexion.
These articles, being of such strength, the dose is exceedingly small. From this fact, it is used in the United States Army Hospitals and public Sanitary Institutions throughout the land.
Cut out the advertisement and send for it. and by this means avoid Counterfeit.
To insure the genuine, cut this out.
Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other.
Sold by all Druggists everywhere.

DR. LAROOKAH'S
Sarsaparilla Compound,
For the Speedy and Permanent Cure of Liver Complaints, Scrofula or King's Evil, Eruptions, and all Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Salt Rheum, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches and Boils, Rheumatic and Neuralgic Pains in the Bones, Side and Head; for the various Weaknesses to which Females are liable; Dyspepsia, Debility, Emaciation, Dropsy, and all diseases resulting from or in an impure state of the Blood.
IT is invaluable to Nervous Sufferers, and a positive cure for Palsy arising from the abuse of Mercury or Lead.
It is a Tonic as well as an Alterative, and a sure protection from attacks that originate in change of climate, season or life.
LIVER COMPLAINTS and their combined symptoms, such as Lumbago, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Bilious Eruptions, &c. When caused by Scrofula taint, this compound is a most effectual remedy.
DYSPEPSIA or INDIGESTION, is often caused by Scrofula, which deranges the stomach, and renders it unhealthy. Indigestion is not always caused by Scrofula, when it is, this Sarsaparilla Compound is a ready cure.
NEURALGIA, HEADACHE and various disorders of the nervous system frequently arise from a low state of the constitutional health, and are much relieved and often cured by this powerful remedy.
ERYSIPELAS, Boils, Tumors, or Salt Rheum, Ulcers, Sores, &c. Moderate doses three times a day will usually effect the cure of the above complaints, but often requires considerable time.
Price one dollar per bottle. Six bottles for five dollars.

DR. LAROOKAH'S
ALL-CONQUERING
INDIAN VEGETABLE PULMONIC SYRUP;
A Sovereign Remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Consumption, and all diseases of the Throat & Lungs.
Unsurpassed by any Medical Discovery in the World. DR. E. R. KNIGHTS, Proprietor, Melrose, Mass.
Price 50 Cents and $1.00 per Bottle.

DR. KNIGHTS'
Oriental Hair Restorer.
After a long series of experiments, this article, as it is now offered to the public, is believed to be the most perfect of its kind which science has ever devised. No pains have been spared to produce what has so long been demanded by thousands, who, from sickness or other causes, have become prematurely grey; and others, who, in the sere and yellow leaf of life, would retain, as far as possible, the semblance of youth. DR. KNIGHTS' ORIENTAL HAIR RESTORER, after a few applications, restores grey or faded hair to its original color, and is the only preparation of the kind upon which the public can place any reliance. It has never been known to fail in a single instance, and is totally unlike the thousand and one so-called Hair Restorers, by which so many have been egregiously deceived.
It is delightfully perfumed, gives the hair a rich and glossy appearance, promotes its luxuriant growth, and will not soil the skin, scalp, or any article of apparel.
PRICE 75 CENTS PER BOTTLE.
Prepared by
E. B. KNIGHTS, Chemist, Melrose, Mass.
Sold by B. F. Bradbury, General Agent, Bangor, and by Druggists and Merchants everywhere.

American & Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.
No. 78 State Street, (opposite Kilby street,) Boston.
AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms, with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS; every one of which was decided in his favor by the Commissioner of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse." CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they can not employ a man more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.
"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." Some Folks Can't Sleep Nights!
GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO., M. S. BURR & CO., WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, and DEMAS BARNES & CO., Wholesale Druggists, New York,
Are now prepared to supply Hospitals, Physicians, and the trade, with the standard and invaluable remedy,
DODD'S NERVINE,
This article surpasses all known preparations for the Cure of all forms of Nervousness.
It is rapidly superseding all preparations of Opium and Valerian—the well-known result of which is to produce Costiveness and other serious difficulties—as it allays Irritation, Restlessness and Spasms, and induces regular action of the bowels and secretive organs.
No preparation for Nervous Diseases ever sold so readily, or met with such universal approval. For Fits, Sleeplessness, Loss of energy, Peculiar Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, and all the fearful mental and bodily symptoms that follow in the train of nervous diseases, Dodd's Nervine is the best remedy known to science. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1.
